

Big Boy steams through Maricopa

Story and Photos by C. Picciuolo

The largest operational steam locomotive in the world, Union Pacific Big Boy No. 4014, caused some locomotion in Maricopa on Wednesday, October 16 as it trekked past the crowds of locals at the Amtrak station.

Several families and locomotive enthusiasts lined each side of the railway hoping to catch some steam as Big Boy powers through Arizona.

The Runner was informed on Wednesday about Big Boy by Community Elder Armida Mattia, who told us her sister Vicky told her about the train. Vicky, who works with elders at San Lucy in Gila Bend, took a group of elders to see the train as it made a stop in Gila Bend.

Armida said she asked her sister if No. 4014 made the whistle noise when it left, and her sister said it did. Armida also wanted to see the train, but she thought she too heard the whistle as it passed through Maricopa en route to Casa Grande.

In Maricopa, onlookers shared stories and knowledge of their love of locomotives as they diligently checked their phones waiting for updates on the Union Pacific website. After nervously waiting several minutes for No. 4014 to pass through Bosque, Shawmut, Estrella and Mobile, Big Boy finally appeared within sight around the bend of the tracks at approximately 4:12p.m. local time as spectators sounded the alarm with cell phones and cameras in hand to witness the rare steam-powered beast.

Two young Maricopa residents shared their experiences with No. 4014. "I just said 'whoa!' and then I said 'woo!' said Maddox Rushton, 7. "Well, it was amazing because it was the first time I saw it and I don't think I'm going to see it (again) for a long time," said his brother Huxley, 9.

Built in November 1941 by the American Locomotive Company, Big Boy No. 4014 was delivered to Union Pacific, who used the locomotive to haul 3,600-ton trains over Utah's Wasatch Range. In 20 years of revenue service, No. 4014 retired on December 7, 1961 after traveling 1,031,205 miles.

Upon retirement, No. 4014 was donated to the Railway and Locomotive Historical Society in Pomona, California, and UP reacquired it on July 23, 2013. The

SR 347 scoping study open house recommends traffic plans

Story and Photos by C. Picciuolo

Traffic is backed up southbound on SR 347 at Riggs Road as the majority of drivers head back to Maricopa from the Phoenix area.

With the rising congestion along SR 347 from Peters and Nall Road to I-10, the Maricopa Association of Governments (MAG) is overseeing a scoping study to recommend a plan to provide a safe and reliable corridor that supports anticipated growth.

This study led to an open house event on Tuesday, October 8 at the Ak-Chin Service Center. Several Ak-Chin Indian Community departments, Community members and Councilmembers joined the conversation and gave their input on the commute and ideas on how to improve the corridor.

"It's an open house on the Ak-Chin Indian Community, going out to one of our key stakeholders, asking them for their input," said Chaun Hill, senior engineering project manager at MAG. "Today we'd like for people to stop by, look at our boards, take a look at what this corridor looks like from stem to stern. We're all the way down here at Peters and Nall Road, but if you see how (SR 347) traverses all the way out to I-10, it gives you a much better understanding of the length of this corridor and the proposal for different kinds of things in each of those segments."

During peak travel hours in the mornings, commuters traveling from Maricopa to Phoenix are often backed up and experience extended driving times to their destination. The same scenario happens in the afternoons on the way back

On Thursday October 3rd, hosting her first event with the Community, Injury Prevention Specialist Teri De La Cruz led a team of certified Child Passenger Safety technicians on a mission to provide a safe driving experience for families across the community. With help from newly certified technicians, along with the Ak-Chin Fire Department, Maricopa Fire Department, Arizona City Fire Department and Maricopa Police Department, this batch of technicians were ready to help in any way possible.

This was an open event for every family in need of a safety seat. The Car Seat Check-Up held at Milton "Paul" Antone Memorial Park gave families the opportunity to stop by for a car seat inspection and to see if their child's seat was up to the standards in providing a safe and sound mode of everyday transportation. The car seats provided at the event are 10-year seats "life time seats", these seats can hold infants from five pounds to children up to 100 pounds. These life time seats can run up to $129 in retail.

This event was in dedication to a special week in the month of September which is devoted to giving an outpour of attention to keep children safe while on the road.

Child Passenger Safety Week began on September 15th and continued through to 21st day of the month, bringing strong awareness on how the many dangers of an incorrectly installed car/booster seat can have on a child's life.

Information from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention state that "Motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of unintentional injury death of American Indians/Alaska Natives." Adding that the major risk factors for these types of fatalities are due to low seat belt use, low child safety seat use and alcohol impaired driving. These injuries can be prevented, especially for children. With the proper equipment

SRPMIC channels Water=Life Workshop

Story and photos by C. Picciuolo

There is one universal fact that can't be disputed, and that is: water=life. This is apparent with the farming history of the Sister Tribes and especially the ancient and current canals of the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community.

On Saturday, October 12 at the SRPMIC Community Garden, Community and non-Community members gathered for a workshop to learn about the traditions, agriculture, gardening techniques and explore the importance of water within the Community. The project was made possible by the Water Public Art Challenge, presented by the Arizona Community Foundation, Republic Media and Morrison Institute for Public Policy.

The City of Mesa was one of five winners in the Water Public Art Challenge and to Maricopa. These instances of traffic jams often come with fender benders and the road in general sees an almost daily car accident in either direction. According to MAG, 80% of Maricopa workers use SR 347 to commute to Phoenix.

The improvement strategies include the following goals: optimize travel time, improve multimodal mobility, improve safety, optimize land use, optimize environmental outcomes, respect stakeholder interests and engagement and maintain current easements.

Identified issues and previous study recommendations are split up into segments along the route, starting with the Maricopa County and Gila River Indian Community congestion from the I-10 interchange, south to Riggs Road.

There are noted event traffic concerns between I-10 and S. Maricopa Road and suggestions of a new signal, RSA improvements, advance signal warning with detectors and beacons at the T-intersection. Road safety recommendations south of the 187-mile marker could potentially include a shoulder modernization inside widening with a median barrier.

At the Riggs Road intersection where much of the congestion sits, truck traffic remains an issue. To break up the stagnant flow of vehicles, suggestions include potential grade separation or innovative treatments such as a parkway at-grade intersection, which reduces traffic queues and allows for traffic to be equally dispersed.

Consultants are focusing on what can be done at Riggs Road from a safety standpoint as an interim solution before money can be found for a grade separation and another concern on the heels of that would be avoiding a bottleneck I-10 at SR 347-Queen Creek.

UltraStar hosts Heritage School during construction

Story and photos by C. Picciuolo

Heritage Academy of Maricopa is preparing for a bittersweet move to their home location at 41000 West Heroes Way after staying at UltraStar Multi-tainment Center at Ak-Chin Circle and Elements Event Center from July 24 through October 17.

The charter school campus was looking for a place to start the school year while waiting for construction to be completed, and Kim Park, sales and events manager at UltraStar, took the call. "In early July, the Principal (of Heritage Academy) stopped by. She's like, 'Can we have class here?' I thought she was joking. I said, 'Sure! We'll figure it out,'" said Park.

Kimberly Ellsworth, principal at Heritage Academy, was grateful for the opportunity to temporarily relocate. "We had a little bit of stalling on our construction, as it was delayed a little bit. We ended up here (UltraStar) because they were wonderful to let us be here," she said. "Honestly, UltraStar has been really great, so being here has been a huge blessing. They have been really awesome with letting us have exactly what we need to have. Obviously, it's not our school campus, it's not ideal; but it's been perfect for us and it's one of the only places in town that's large enough to hold 400 students."

Those 400 students and 35 staff members have utilized the space with ease, as nearly all classes are held at Ak-Chin Circle. Many of the kids have been overheard saying that they were excited to have school at UltraStar.

Elements can be broken down into three main rooms and then broken down more, with

The Runner's Spooky Halloween Story

Story by C. Picciuolo

The deep crimson sun sets behind Ak-Chin Indian Community as nature's breath exhales in dust devils at dusk. A crow caws while perched atop mule deer horns.

As light escapes the uneasy air, across the road and behind an unhinged screen door a set of piercing eyes gradually poke out of the darkness with a silent cackle.

The tiger orange moon casts enough light to reveal curdled and caked white and vermilion makeup on its face as the door creaks.

A shadow of eight legs looms along a nearby crumbling shed. A leg twitches without warning. The other seven follow as the shadow grows and grows and grows fangs. Winds whistle as two lifeless dolls appear in the middle of the road.

A menacing reaper floats over a saguaro, wearing a tattered, hooded cloak and takes its sharp scythe to pumpkins on doorsteps. A lone swing sways on a playground as a ghoulish figure emerges on the seat, wrapped in chains. The ghost disappears but the swing picks up speed as rotting scents radiate from the dirt.

One by one, all creatures gather and gradually draw closer. Bare skeletons join in from rooftops. Mummies crawl out of windows. Blood-thirsty vampires sprint from porches. They all approach within inches and come to a dead stop... to remind you about the...

September Meeting focuses on New Programs, Community Events and Information Systems

Story and photos by R. Peters

The September Community Meeting was held on Monday, September 30, at Ak-Chin Service Center, with about a dozen members in attendance. After the welcome from Ak-Chin Chairman Robert Miguel, Community Services Manager, Nicole "Coco" Carlyle-Coester, provided an opening prayer.

First to present at the September Community Meeting was Ak-Chin Library Manager, Melanie Toledo, along with Matthew Cross, Library Technician. They presented information on new programs and upcoming community involvement projects, like scanning photo albums.

Melanie explained how members would get a USB drive and archival supplies for scanning and digitizing of photos or newspaper clippings, without having to take photos out of albums or tear pages, and also the capability to scan negatives and important documents as well. She also talked about creating a digital recording of cassette songs and audio tapes. The project will include a digitization night and will be announced soon.

Brittany Sourjohn, Community Events and Marketing Manager and Amanda Roninger, Community Sponsorship Event Planner were in attendance to discuss programs and processes. Amanda shared information about Coppersky and how there are no longer Coppersky vouchers; instead tribal members can receive a 40% discount for a Coppersky membership. They would need to go to Coppersky and show their tribal ID, in order to sign up. The discount is also open to Community Employees.

Amanda then talked about raffles, "we are kind of winding down the season for raffles," sharing that Ak-Chin Pavilion concert season is complete, and will pick back up in early spring. There are still a few more sporting events and a couple of concerts still up for raffle. She also asked if members were getting the weekly e-blast from her, and if not, to email: events@ak-chin.nsn.us if they would like to receive them. Also discussed was the Community's social media, how to join the member-only page, and being on Instagram.

Brittany talked about the Fall program currently happening and how Community Events partnered with Him Dak Museum to offer one form for both programs; for the Museum's half day or Community Events full-day options; as well as hours, lunch, transportation and activities. Brittany also shared information about the Halloween Fest on October 29 at MPA park, and how they were looking for game and food booth vendors, which are free for members.

She then touched a little bit on this year's Masik Tas, giving the membership a heads-up on changes that will be put in the Runner and on social media, such as the carnival, which will be free for members and $10 for the public for an all-day wristband, as well as the rodeo changing to a full-rodeo and the Ramon Ayala, concert on Saturday night, December 14. Tickets will be $25.00, with a number of tickets raffled to members. Tickets will be sold on-site, day of concert.

Last presentation was provided by Information Systems Director, Keith Franklin, who informed the members of Information Systems projects and programs, "information technology is there and if you don't see it then we've done our job," Keith shared, explaining how they help and protect the system, community data, and the community's security.

Keith provided the names of all staff members, their areas and routines and then talked about some of the projects they were working on such as; document management program with TGA, power phone medical dispatch software for dispatchers and EMTs, recent computer raffle, 90% completion with system 10 Microsoft upgrade, IS support for World Long Drive competition and preschool expansion, upgrading public safety radio system, new cabling, card access, and camera systems for Education, Library and Recreation.

They have a lot of information coming together; working 85 switches in the Community, 430 phones, 16 large servers with large processors, 100 TB on active space, 110TB as back up storage, about 600 laptops and workstations, providing fiber to new public use area, Language and Cultural building. Keith also shared how they were fixing cable that had conduit exposure from IS all the way to HQ due to storms and floods as well as repairing the wireless network at the airport, after the crash, in addition to upgrading HR Kronos programs.

After a short break, Councilmembers provided their updates. Chairman Miguel began with updates on; Agave's Restaurant walk-through, Metro and Rural tribes compact negotiating meetings, 2019 Self-Governance Strategy Session, National Democratic Debate in Houston, Texas, White House Tribal Energy Meeting in Washington D.C, NARD Celebration, Maricopa Chamber of Commerce breakfast at UltraStar, EPA Region 9 conference at Harrah's, 5th Annual Tribal Development Roundtable in Tucson, Pinal County Supervisor's Summit at Harrah's.

Councilmember Octavio Machado shared Vice-Chairman Lopez' written updates as he was absent; Religious Pilgrimage to Magdalena, Sonora Mexico, Self-Governance Strategy Session, First Things First consultation, Tribal Gaming Meeting at Twin Arrows in Navajo Nation, Educational Consultation, Water Settlement-Santa Rosa Canal system.

Library Manager Melanie Toledo shows archival box and supplies.

Kicking off their chain of Halloween events Ak-Chin Library's Awesome Program Series presented the Killer Campfire Tales! Starting at 6 p.m. on the evening of October 9, families showed up to the library to grab their seats for an evening full of ghoulish stories and yummy treats.

To begin the evening, library staff provided much needed cans of Off Insect Repellent, for the massive amount of mosquitos out that night would be quite distracting to the audience if not used.

Telling a numbers of scary shorts and urban legends, library staff set up a makeshift campsite with plenty of seats for the guests.

Reading from the book Spooky Campfire Tales: Haunting, Strange Happenings, and Supernatural Lore by S. E. Schlosser along with some audio read stories the staff created a very eerie atmosphere as each story was told with gripping tones, selling the stories to the curious crowd.

As tales were told throughout night, families were called up to the fire pit to make delicious s'mores, all provided by the library. And as the night rolled on hearing these stories gave parents and children a good dose of Halloween spirits!

Library Technician Matthew Cross tells the first tale of the night.

These girls aren't afraid of listening to a few spooky stories.

Ak-Chin kiddos enjoy LEGOLand and Beach!

On September 29th, the parent group of Ak-Chin Early Childhood Education assembled the 2019 graduates and family members for the annual Preschool California field trip.

After a whirlwind of events interfering with this year's trip, the parent group rallied together to raise enough money to take their kiddos on a well earned trip to sunny

California for some bricktastic fun at Legoland and beachtime fun!

No trip to the Golden State is complete without a trip to the shivering cold waters of the ocean. The group settled in the sand Monday, Sept. 30, for an afternoon of aquatic adventures.

installed, proper education on said equipment and general knowledge anyone and everyone can prevent such irreversible damage in these drastic situations.

The days leading up to the event, Ms. De La Cruz provided a Child Passenger Safety (CPS)

Certification course at the Elements Event Center for all interested in learning about CPS. Sixteen people attended the certification course, eight of them were employees of Ak-Chin. Some of the employees whose work pertains to taking care/transporting children on a daily basis were definitely intrigued to go through the certification process. The course goes in-depth into Safe Native American Passengers training, the SNAP training goes into what happens in a crash, how to properly lock in a car seat, how to properly fasten a child in the car seat, installation/education on rear facing car seats and forward-facing seats. SNAP also provides information on how what seat a child will need, based on age and other factors, and importantly teaches how to identify misuse of a child's safety seat. For the future technicians this was an eye-opening set of classes, parents who had gone through the course were stunned to find that they themselves had been misusing their own child's safety seat and did not know it.

It is known in the Community that everyone can go to the Ak-Chin Fire Department for any car seat needs, as they have technicians available for those who need help with seats. Injury Prevention will now be having monthly car seat training classes available and if parents/guardians/caregivers need a car seat Mrs. De La Cruz is available during the day for walk-ins at the Health Education. If anyone is needing a car seat after work hours or on the weekends Ak-Chin FD is still available to distribute/educate the parents on car seat safety. For more information please contact Health Education at (520) 568-1080.

the Mesa Arts Center made the workshop possible as a precursor to the upcoming nine-day installation of collaborative art in Mesa's Riverview Park, Water=Life, which is intended to look at the history and future of water in the Valley and to consider the numerous canals that nourished the Indigenous Peoples who built them.

"We were so pleased with the turn out and level of engagement at Saturday's event," said Sarah Goedicke, project manager for Water=Life. "The opportunity to be hosted by the SRPMIC furthers several goals of the Water=Life project, and encouraged sharing across cultures the many roles water plays in our lives."

Hosting the event was SRPMIC Cultural Resources Department Community Garden coordinator Jacob Butler. "This portion of the event was to highlight the Indigenous Communities' ancient traditions of using water and how we're still here and how we're still utilizing water for some of the same purposes and they wanted to come and highlight that and show respect for the Communities that have always been here," he said. "So, they asked us to talk about our garden, give some garden tours, talk about how we've fostered ancient plants, traditional seeds and brought in things that are newer to our people but in the past couple hundred years."

According to Butler, at one time the whole Valley had about 100,000 acres of farmland, irrigated by over 1,000 miles of canals which started by the Red Mountain area. This land is considered a preserve for SRPMIC, which includes around 35,000 acres not touched by development to remain as pristine as possible so that the Community may exercise their traditional cultural practices. Within the preserved land are some of the original Huhugam canals. The Central Arizona Project (CAP) canal located within the area is an ancient canal which was excavated, lined and turned into a modern canal.

SRPMIC farmed on this land from the late 1800s to the 1930s. The precursor to Salt River Project (SRP) went to congress to lobby on behalf of SRPMIC to line the canal systems to get water to the Community because they were having a hard time getting water to their lands to farm. Funds were received and a big excavation project went underway and extended all the way into Phoenix. Soon after, the Community discovered it wasn't really for them, it was to bring water to Phoenix. "As soon as the water delivery system was in place, the Community was charged for the water," said Butler. "As a society that wasn't cash-based, they couldn't afford it. Overnight (the change) killed the ability to farm in our Community. Within a blink of an eye, farming died here."

All the farmland that the Community traditionally farmed was then turned over to non-tribal members to farm the land for lease payments because they couldn't afford the water and subsequent upkeep. After almost 100 years of leasing land this way, the Community Garden is one of the first steps in bringing farming back to the Community as a Tribal venture.

Also present at the workshop were the very talented performers Tony Duncan, 5-time World Hoop Dancing Champion and recording artist and Toby Jose, an SRPMIC community member, singer, and percussionist. Duncan played a traditional Native American flute, danced with hoops and talked about the origins of the beadwork on his clothing.

Jose sang a welcoming song about dancing towards the rising sun, which is traditionally sang at gatherings early in the morning and used a gourd shaker made from squash and cactus rib. Both of these together have meaning: the gourd representing the Earth, and the handle, the wisdom of the Elders.

A tour of the garden was provided, along with free seed packets for attendees. Artmaking workshops and ceramics demonstrations were held in the Community Garden by Danielle Wood and Rich Littlefield, and Community members were also present.

"First and foremost, I really appreciate the focus being in our Community for our people," said Butler. "Events like this where other people can come and get some insight to what we're doing is awesome because the demographic of people that are interested in growing is already small no matter if you are in a large city or in a Community like ours, so by allowing other people who are not of our Community come in and see this and support what we are doing, to me, only bolsters that support within our Community."

Once Machado had completed Vice-Chairman's updates, he added his on; Sponsorship contracts, Economic Development Review Committee, Casino expansion updates, 2020 Budget, suggested program implementation for off-reservation membership, El Paso Gas Line negotiations, UltraStar Management and financials, Masik Tas safety issues, Community Housing cost-saving options, dance permits, and 12% gaming revenue grants.

Councilmember Lisa Garcia presented on behalf of Delia Carlyle who was also absent and provided a written report to share, which included, attending; Quarterly Self-Governance

Rec serves up Youth Co-ed Volleyball League

Ak-Chin Parks and Recreation has put together a great opportunity for kids and young adults to learn the fundamentals of and gain experience with the game of volleyball in the 2019 Youth Co-ed Volleyball League held at Rec.

The free league is split up into two age divisions, 9-12 and 13-17, and lasts for five weeks. Matchups are every Tuesday night from October 1-22, with the last week being played on Monday, October 28. Younger players compete from 5:00p.m. to 7:10p.m. and the oldest play from 7:35p.m. to 8:50p.m.

Ages 9-12 have six teams total with three from Ak-Chin: Native Warriors, Little Rabbits and Vipers. The other three are from other Communities: Komatke, Sacaton D3 and San Lucy. The 13-17-year-old division has four teams competing: Ak-Chin 1, Ak-Chin 2, Komatke and Sacaton D3.

In this Runner issue we're going to focus on the younger Ak-Chin teams as they develop basic skills such as volleying, passing, serving and teamwork on the court. Scores are kept but not necessarily focused on as the purpose of the league is to familiarize them with the foundation of the sport and increase confidence, motor skills and communication experience.

"Their progress has gone up since started with them. They've grown in the last month. A lot of the kids know how to serve and pass now.

Story by Runner Staff, photos submitted

They're more aggressive. They're all having fun. This is the first time that some of them have played the sport and the first time that we have hosted the league here," said coaches Julia Dickerson and Wesley Gonzalez.

The teams were split up equally among kids who showed interest in playing volleyball and most of them have played other sports at Rec. There are five new players that just started playing the game this season. 90 percent of the team has learned to pass now, so the coaches say that they are pleased with the progress.

Week four is up next for the Ak-Chin teams on Tuesday, October 22.

Spooky Recreation Co-ed Volleyball Tournament

Photos by J. Peters

1st place - Young Gunz

2nd place - Rocket Power

3rd place - That Squad

October 5th, seven teams played several rounds of high velocity volleyball in the Spooky Recreation Co-Ed Volleyball power play tournament

From 9 am that morning it was like a tornado had blown through the gym, as teams rattled off spikes and picked them up too, one by one, and slowly shortening the bracket. By 2 p.m. the last 3 teams were up to finish off the tournament.

The third place game had Rocket Power and That Squad put up a good challenge against one another, That Squad had their A-game going good, but eventually lost to Rocket Power.

For championship Ak-Chin's Young Gunz took aim at Rocket Power in a crazy duel. Both teams were packed with heavy hitters and an unbreakable will to win. The scores kept teetering back and forth. Although Rocket Power played a good game, Young Gunz took home the glory of becoming the 1st place champs.

10 classrooms in total being used by the school. UltraStar accommodated in a very creative way, utilizing the back hallway of the theaters, Theater 8 and a VIP suite.

Since the upstairs Star Class does not open until 4p.m., the students have been able to take over the area during the day, with the left side of the floor used for drama and the right for yoga. The students were seen having a relaxed walk through the hallway, down the stairs, with their rolled-up yoga mats in arms.

One especially perfect class for the students was bowling, and they were able to not only use Ten Pins Down for their curriculum, but also the Hollywood and Rock n Roll party rooms at the bowling alley for band practice and other studies.

The students have held classes Monday through Thursday with a block schedule, and each class is 90 minutes long.

Heritage staff prepared for a transition Wednesday through Thursday, moving all furniture and paperwork into the new building, with students getting ready for a new start and permanent home on Monday.

Heritage School is one of the longest running charter schools in Arizona and has been around for 25 years. The school already has three other campuses in Mesa, Queen Creek and Laveen. There was a demand in Maricopa from parents, so Heritage decided to move to the city.

The experience was mutually appreciated by both UltraStar and Heritage School. "It's been fun. The kids have been great. On my birthday they pulled me aside and into the theater and sang happy birthday to me and one of the kiddos is really good on the guitar and he was jamming out. The kids really adapted well," said Park.

Principal Ellsworth acknowledged the connection that the Communities made. "I'd just like to thank the Ak-Chin Indian Community and UltraStar for everything that they have done. They have really made it so smooth for us and we couldn't have done it without them, so I would just like to say thank you."

Fall Intersession activities keep students busy during two-week break

Ak-Chin Community Events and Community departments sponsored a few events over the past two weeks to keep students energized and entertained. Students from all over the community had a blast spending their break from school, engaging in Fall time fun with the different programs.

Departments put on creative and innovative outlets for the youth to attend; Him Dak's Art program had many students with their morning program doing a variety of arts and crafts activities. Community Events and other departments shared time with students during their day long program. With the split programs, families were able to have their students attend both to keep their students active all day long. Students were rewarded with Friday field trips to various places.

Students attending the Art Program were able to enjoy entertainment at UltraStar playing games, bowling or watching movies on their Friday field trips.

Community Events' first Friday field trip on October 4, took students, staff, temps and volunteers over to Urban Air Adventure Park in Phoenix, where they welcomed the children to jump, glide, and scream their lungs out throughout the facility. Enjoying delicious pizza slices for lunch the group then headed over to Chandler Fashion Mall to explore the new Crayola Experience, where everyone was given a coin to make their own personalized colored crayon of choice.

Recreation assisted with the Events program on Thursday, as they took the kids to watch the movie Abominable and ate popcorn and fruit snacks with a soda. Before the movie started, a few of the kids posed for a picture with an animatronic life-size figure of Pennywise the clown from the movie It 2.

On Friday, October 11, students traveled to Castles N' Coasters near Metro Center mall in Phoenix. The perfect weather on that day provided great moments to ride and explore the mini-themed park. Bumper water rides, the log ride, and a fun merry-go-round all awaited the children as the sweet smell of cotton candy and waffle cones filled the air. Kids enjoyed each and every ride with big smiles on their faces.

This year's Fall break was an all-around amazing time for Ak-Chin students and parents alike.

Protect Our FUTURE

Use child safety seats on every ride.

The Facts

- Among children aged 0-12, American Indian and Alaska Native children have the highest traffic death rate of all racial/ethnic groups in the United States.¹
- More than half of car seats and booster seats are not used correctly. If the seat isn't installed the right way, or you're using the wrong type of seat for your child's age, height, or weight, your child is not as safe as he or she could be.²
- Using age- and size-appropriate car seats, booster seats, and seat belts significantly reduce the risk of injury and death among children in a crash.

Help Keep Yourself and Your Loved Ones Safe

You can help keep yourself and your loved ones safe by:

- Using a car seat, booster seat, or seat belt on every trip, no matter how short.
- Finding the right car seat or booster seat for your child's age, height, and weight. See the chart below for tips.

Getting help installing a car or booster seat from a certified child passenger safety technician.

Properly buckling children aged 12 and under in the back seat. The back seat is safest for children.

Never placing a rear-facing car seat in front of an airbag. Airbags can injure or kill small children riding in the front seat.

Not using traditional baby carriers (such as cradleboards) in place of a car seat. Traditional carriers do not keep children safe in cars or trucks.

Always wearing a seat belt when pregnant. Be sure to wear the lap belt below your belly. Place the shoulder belt across your chest—never behind the back, under the arm, or across the stomach.³

If someone told you that your baby's chances of dying are 40 TIMES GREATER when sleeping in an adult bed rather than a crib, where would you put your baby to sleep tonight?

Practice The ABCs of Safe Sleep:

- A Alone
- B Back
- C Crib

Baby sleeps safest ALONE, on their BACK, and in a CRIB.

On 11/16 UltraStar's big 7th Anniversary Celebration bash happens. This year will be a 1970's theme. The celebration will begin inside from 9:30a.m.-6p.m. and raffle tickets will be sold for prizes such as 4 Universal Studios Park Tickets and movies for a year. The winner of the Fall 65" TV Give-a-way will also be chosen at 5p.m. Going with the theme, laser tag games, bowling games, bowling shoes, select bulk candy, promo concession popcorn, small concession drinks, hot dogs and nachos will all be .70 cents.

Clint Black celebrates "killin' time" at Harrah's

Story by R. Peters

Multi-million dollar Country Superstar Clint Black performs at Harrah's Event Center on Friday, October 11.

One of the most celebrated artists of his genre, country icon Clint Black was on tour to commemorate the 30-year triple-platinum debut of "killin' time" at Harrah's Event Center on Friday, October 11.

To open up the show, Haggard Brothers, Ben and Noel made their way to the stage for some good old school country western tunes, most in tribute to their beloved dad, Merle Haggard, who passed away in 2016.

The younger brother Ben, who's been playing with his dad and band The Strangers, since he was 15, as lead guitar, took to the stage as lead singer, only after the death of his dad, to play the remainder of his dad's tour dates. He now tours with older brother Noel, who provided vocals, guitar and some brotherly comedy.

During the show, the duo played some of their dad's best-known songs, "Are the Good Times Really Over," "Workin' Man Blues," "Fighting Side of Me," and "Okie from Muskogee".

The Haggard Brothers also performed "As Haggard As They Come" before thanking the crowd and Clint Black for the opportunity to perform.

After a short intermission, Grammy Award winner Clint Black took to the stage to do his thing; revered by his peers for writing or co-writing most of his chart-topping songs, he has many accolades, including a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

Clint kept the music going close to 11pm to the packed crowd at Harrah's Event Center, playing all his greats; "The Shoes You're Wearing", "Summer's Coming", "A Better Man", "When My Ship Comes In", "Nothin' But the Taillights", "Like the Rain", and "Killin' Time".

He too thanked the crowd for coming out and was glad to be in Maricopa with the Haggards, "Having Noel and Ben here is great." Clint also praised the late Haggard, as being one of his biggest musical heroes as he paid tribute to Merle with "Mama Tried" and "Untanglin My Mind" which he wrote with Merle Haggard.

Clint joked about his Willie Nelson impersonations and the time he first met Mr. Nelson, as well as his memories of Waylon Jennings, Hank Williams and Kris Kristofferson.

Black played mean harmonica all night and after his encore "Put Yourself in My Shoes", he again thanked everyone for coming, "We're going to turn it in Maricopa. Thank you for coming out, we sure do appreciate it...We had a great time, hope you did too."

Ben (right) and Noel Haggard honor their dad the Late Merle Haggard's legacy during Friday performance at Harrah's Event Center.

Experience UltraStar's luxurious twenty-one and over sports bar, restaurant, and lounge. If you're looking for a night out on the town, look no further than our very own Luxe Lounge
